A PUBLICATION OF THE DISTRICT 10 COUNCIL OFFICE

55 Trinity Avenue, SW Suite 2900, Atlanta, Georgia 30303 | aboone@atlantaga.gov | 404-330-6055

Happy New Year from Atlanta City Councilmember Andrea L. Boone

Atlanta City Councilmember
Andrea L. Boone

Dear District 10 Residents,

I'm so honored to serve as your council member for this great district. My team and I have been hard at work in the community striving to make it even better.

We've engaged in community cleanups to beautify our neighborhoods. We've planted trees to secure a healthy environment for future generations, and we've sat down with you for coffee and conversation to keep you abreast of current and future development and how it will impact your quality of life.

I'm fighting on your behalf to address your most pressing concerns. We are confronting the issue of affordable housing, enhanced senior services, public safety, blight and cleanliness for all of our residents.

Our plan is to get back to the basics and prioritize constituent services. We're attending meetings, returning calls and responding to your needs with immediacy. My goal is to continue in the tradition of my esteemed predecessor C.T. Martin, who never met a challenge he didn't attack head-on.

My fervent desire is to make District 10 a major destination for all who decide to make Atlanta their home. I can't do it alone. Your input makes all the difference. Please don't hesitate to call and let me know what's on your mind. You can reach my office at 404-330-6055. If you would like further updates, please send your email addresses to aboone@atlantaga.gov.

You can visit the Atlanta City Council website at www.atlantaga.gov for the most recently passed legislation.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Warmest regards,

Andrea L. Boone

Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms, Councilmembers Andrea Boone, and Andre Dickens, Chief Housing officer Terri Lee, Invest Atlanta CEO Dr. Eloisa Klementich, and other City Officials, breaking ground on Creekside at Adamsville Place.

Councilmember Boone, alongside Atlanta's Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms, broke ground this June with a pledge to create or preserve more affordable homes by 2026; invest $1 billion from public, private and philanthropic sources in the acquisition and preservation of affordable housing; ensure equitable growth for all Atlanta citizens and minimize displacement; and support innovation and streamline processes.

With the help of A&DP Development and the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development, safe, comfortable and affordable homes in Atlanta will be created to bring us a step closer toward eliminating displacement. Councilmember Boone is especially excited about Creekside Place because now residents of her district will be able to reside in beautiful homes that the entire family can enjoy.

Councilmember Andrea Boone kicks off Ground-breaking for housing development in District 10.

Fight Against Blight in District's 9 and 10: Successful Demolition of Abandoned Properties

(917 Bolton Road, 217 Wynwood Drive, SW, 3417 Collier Drive and 950 Bolton Road)

Councilmember Andrea Boone and Councilmember Dustin Hillis have worked tirelessly to combat blight in the City of Atlanta. During their term in office 3417 Collier drive, 217 Wynwood Drive, 3648 Saturn Road, 950 Bolton road, and 917 Bolton Road have been demolished. These properties have been a site of focus for many years. These historic communities deserve to have blighted properties torn down," Boone said. "They've been vacant for several years now. I'm glad that we are clearing out these eyesores and revitalizing our community."

Councilmember Boone and Councilmember Hillis, with assistance from Mayor Bottoms and other council members, introduced legislation that added $1.5 million to the City's Fiscal Year 2019 Code Enforcement demolition budget, helping to address the backlog of over 500 properties across the city.

With assistance from the Atlanta Department of Corrections, Councilmember Boone organized roadside clean up measures throughout District 10. Illegal dumping has plagued District 10 over the years. The revitalization of the community she cares passionately about has been one of her primary goals.

Fight the Blight Symposium
Hosted by Councilmember Andrea Boone and the City of Atlanta
Solicitor, Raines Carter
The Atlanta Police Department,

Atlanta Fire and Rescue, Public Works, Department of Corrections, Department of City Planning, and other city departments were in attendance at the symposium to discuss what measures are being taken to address areas of neglect in the city. Councilmember Boone,

“These historic communities deserve to have blighted properties torn down”

who hosted the event, thanked each department at the C.T. Martin Recreation Center for their role in the successful turnout. The “Fight Against Blight Symposium” is an annual event open to all citizens. Please contact Councilmember Boone’s office for more information about this initiative.

PadSplit and Rooming House Work Sessions: Citizen Input Needed

Recently, Councilmember Boone hosted a series of Rooming House and PadSplit work sessions. The goal of these meetings is to receive community feedback about the expansion of the company into the district as well as the new proposed legislation to limit the number of unrelated individuals living within rooming homes. Councilmembers Matt Westmoreland and Michael Julian Bond were also in attendance in order to gain a better insight into the extent of city-wide concerns. PadSplit is a property rental company that provides fully furnished, move-in ready rooms at a low cost. The company also allows members to split rent, which is inclusive of utilities and parking, into weekly payments. Legislation was introduced and is under review.

Please call our office at 404-330-6055 or email us to receive information on upcoming meetings for this very important issue.

UPS Job Fair Gives District 10 Residents Employment Opportunities

Councilmember Andrea Boone and UPS staff kick off District 10 hiring event.

Councilmember Boone has worked with UPS to host and promote the UPS hiring event at the C.T. Martin Recreation Center. This event provides an excellent part-time employment opportunity, on-the-spot interviews, and hiring. Through the UPS Earn and Learn program, student employees receive all the paid benefits of a great part-time job with UPS, plus outstanding education assistance. Over 500 candidates registered for the event, reaching capacity.

In April, Councilmember Boone partnered with UPS and the City of Atlanta’s Office of Human Services and the Office of Constituent Services to host this event. Whereas last year, UPS targeted candidates for the position of part-time operations supervisor, this year UPS is looking to hire package handlers.

This event creates an opportunity for students and residents to gain employment with benefits, allowing them to further their education and advance in the company. Councilmember Boone seeks to provide opportunities that lead her constituents to financial security and empowerment.

New Development on Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive Corridor (iVillage at H.E. Holmes Marta Station)

Flowers, ice-cream, soap and candles are some of the products now available through merchants of the new iVillage @ MLK, a transit-oriented marketplace made out of repurposed shipping containers at H.E. Holmes MARTA station. The new entrepreneurs will have the opportunity to grow and scale in an underserved community. Mayor Bottoms and Councilmember Andrea Boone were both present for the grand opening of the development which will make office space affordable for a mix of innovative entrepreneurs. “The iVillage investment will help spur a spirit of entrepreneurship this community needs and is ready for,” said Councilmember Boone. “I am happy Invest Atlanta has chosen this area to launch the first of its kind in the City of Atlanta.”

Improving mobility and access to economic opportunity is one of the objectives behind the iVillage @ MLK. Another goal of the project is to provide an opportunity for reimagining the possibilities of a public space, putting it to new use for local businesses and residents. Local entrepreneurs will benefit from innovative office space as they launch businesses and test new ideas. The development will accommodate eight small businesses projected to produce approximately 20 to 25 jobs along the M.L.K. Drive corridor. MARTA will examine future opportunities for transit-oriented development at H.E. Holmes station to ensure more people can live affordably near job centers and transit nodes.

Former NFL Player Chuck Wiley’s Omega Cheerleading and Football Camp is a Touchdown Success

Councilmember Andrea Boone joins C.T. Martin Recreation Center youth and former NFL player Chuck Wiley for its Omega Football and Cheer Camps.

In partnership with former NFL player Chuck Wiley and the 99 Wayz 2 Win Foundation, Councilmember Boone hosted the Omega Football and Cheerleading Camp at the C.T. Martin Natatorium and Recreation Center June 13. The Omega Football and Cheerleading Camp serves as a vehicle to provide at-risk youth with positive forces and role models in their lives.

With child obesity and health issues on the rise in our youth, the camp, sponsored by USA Football, promotes football, cheerleading, and an overall healthy lifestyle to children. Wiley’s Omega Football and Cheerleading Camp caters to children ages 9-18 for a variety of drills in a non-contact setting and features local cheer coaches. The 99 Wayz 2 Win Foundation, a 501(c) 3 nonprofit foundation, has aided youth since its creation in 2001. This foundation has helped thousands of youth in both the Baton Rouge and Atlanta areas using various activities to get children healthy and active. The work of the 99 Wayz 2 Win Foundation has been recognized in 2005 by Mutual of America as one of the “Top Mentoring Programs” in the nation. Councilmember Boone encouraged youth to begin engaging in healthy lifestyles and continues to mentor them. Her goal is to positively influence the next generation of leaders. Through Councilmember Boone’s tireless support and engagement with the youth, the children who attended the Omega Football and Cheerleading Camp found inspiration through her kind words and thoughtful actions. Council member Boone believes that the children are the future and is excited to host upcoming events within District 10, and even those in surrounding districts.

C.T. Martin Recreation Center and Natatorium Receives First Solar Energy Panels in the City of Atlanta

Another great benefit is that members of the community also had the opportunity to explore hands-on solar presentations.

Energy efficiency is a top priority in securing clean, healthy energy for our city for generations to come. Council member Boone believes that by implementing a program for energy efficiency we can develop a better environment. These are just a few of the major strides that Council member Boone will take for District 10 and the rest of Atlanta to ensure that we are living in a safe, progressive environment and community.

During the celebration of Earth Month in April 2019, Councilmember Boone and the City of Atlanta’s renewable energy initiative formed an alliance with Mayor Bottoms, Stephanie Stucky, the city’s chief resilience officer, the Mayor’s Office of Resilience, and James Marlow, CEO of Radiance. Together they officially launched the Solar Atlanta Efficiency Energy Program and Energy Savings Performance Contract Program. With the discussion of renewable energy bringing positive impacts to the community, it was announced that 24 municipal buildings would receive solar panels in efforts to move forward with the City’s renewable energy plan. C.T. Martin Natatorium Recreation Center will be the first building to receive the solar panel in the City of Atlanta.

In addition, the Solar Atlanta Program will be installing cost-effective solar panels through a public-private partnership with Cherry Street Energy and Radiance Solar. The two Georgia-based companies will provide high-quality services and green jobs to local residents.

Councilmember Boone invited students from Usher-Collier Elementary, L.P. Miles Elementary, as well as community leaders, to introduce the basic concepts of energy and its impact on our environment. The City of Atlanta emphasized the importance of stored energy, electricity conservation, energy efficiency, global climate change, renewable and nonrenewable energy.

Councilmember Andrea Boone Hosts Financial Empowerment and Homeownership Workshop

On Monday, June 17, 2019, Council member Boone partnered with Worksource Atlanta, Urban League of Greater Atlanta, and BB&T Bank for a Financial Empowerment and Homeownership Workshop. This partnership gave the community the opportunity to learn and understand the steps necessary to becoming a homeowner. An outstanding introduction was given by Councilmember Boone and Tracey Mosley with Urban League of Greater Atlanta. A few of the topics covered during this event were: “Becoming a Homeowner Class,” facilitated by BB&T Bank and “Financially Prepared for Homeownership” by Pettus & Dawkins Financial Group.” Participants were shown the process of purchasing a home, as well as receiving credit checks for future qualifications. Lunch was served to participants and vendors and entertainment was provided for the duration of the event. Overall this event was deemed so successful that the citizens of District 10 expressed their thoughts to Councilmember Boone about hosting another one.

Public Safety: New Security Cameras Installed to Ensure Resident Safety in District 10

With the assistance of the Atlanta Police Foundation, Council member Boone has installed six license plate reading cameras across District 10, ensuring her constituents are living and working in a safe environment. The Foundation has attempted to verify and use private assets to finance high need ventures intended to upgrade the City of Atlanta’s capacity to battle and avoid wrongdoing. Through this work, there has been an increase in prevention tactics for crime in Atlanta.

Council member Boone’s shift toward greater security measures within District 10 aids in her desire to create a safer community. The locations of the new security cameras are as follows: 4065 Wisteria Lane; 1165 Flamingo Drive; the corner of Benjamin E. Mays Drive SW and Lynhurst Drive; 1045 Benjamin E. Mays Drive SW; 3102 Martin Luther King Jr. Drive SW; and 3083 Martin Luther King Jr. Drive SW. Council member Boone anticipates that the installation of these cameras will be met with a decrease in crime and other harmful actions within District 10.

Dedication of Ed Meniffee Bridge

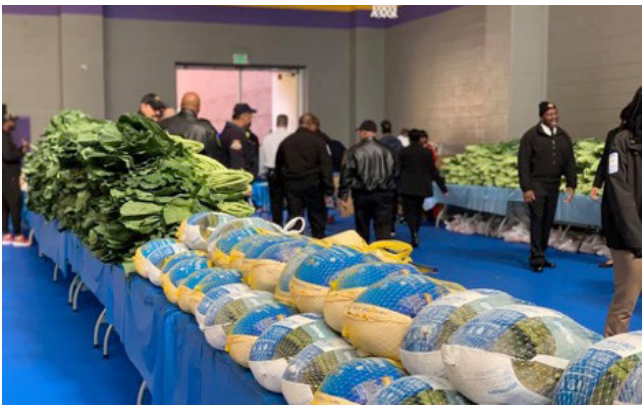

For over 40 years, Edward “Ed” Meniffee dedicated his life to giving back and showing people a different way of life. Councilmember Andrea Boone, State representative Sheila Jones and others gathered to memorialize his exemplary life of excellence and leadership. A bridge over Interstate 285 leading into the Adamsville community was named in his honor. Meniffee, who passed away in 2014, was founder of the Southwest Atlanta Youth Business Organization.

(SWAYBO), a group where youth were trained and motivated in life, education and business turning a $25 investment into more than $8 million in revenue. SWAYBO guided young people on educational excursions that covered 40 countries and 40 states. He also formed a group called the First Thursday Society which offered small grants to people in need of financial assistance.

Community Events: 14th Annual Thanksgiving Turkey Event and Community Feast Hosted by Actor, Grammy Award Winner – Artist “T.I.” and Family

Councilmember Andrea L. Boone was honored to distribute turkeys and healthy sides to citizens at several holiday meal giveaway events during the month of November. Councilmember Boone, in concert with the Center of Helping Obesity in Children End Successfully, Inc. (C.H.O.I.C.E.S.) and Oasis Church, donated over 300 hens and 300 turkeys to families in the community. There was an exceptional turn out at the C.T. Martin Recreation Center. C.H.O.I.C.E.S. is a parent and child resource center focused on helping Atlantans lead healthier lives by making better overall health choices. Councilmember Boone served hot meals with the Fulton County District Attorney’s Office at its Third Annual Zone 4 Thanksgiving Community Feast on November 20, 2019. In addition to the hot meals served, toiletries and other sundry items were distributed to those in need. This feast was held at the Community Prosecution Office, 2472 Martin Luther King Jr. Drive in Atlanta. In keeping with her commitment to public service, Councilmember Boone is always grateful for opportunities to assist and serve the citizens of Atlanta.

Councilmember Boone, Clifford T.I. Harris and Mayor Keisha Lace Bottoms

Councilmember Boone hosted a Thanksgiving turkey event at CT Martin Recreation Center. Atlanta native and entertainer Clifford “T.I.” Harris and Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms along with Councilmember Andrea Boone. Between Councilmember Andrea Boone, Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms, and The Harris Foundation, a generous amount of turkeys were given away in an effort to make sure all families would enjoy their holiday.

The holiday season holds a special place in Councilmember Boone’s heart. Making sure citizens received much-needed holiday relief and cheer is a personal initiative that she wishes to share for many years to come.

Councilmember Andrea Boone Hosts Ongoing Community Cleanups to Combat Blight in District 10

District 10 has greatly benefited from the on-going community clean-ups. Councilmember Boone has hosted numerous community clean-ups and informational sessions for constituents this year. Actively fighting the blight that affects District 10 is a priority to Councilmember Boone. In the past, she has partnered with the Office of the City Solicitor to educate communities on identifying the City of Atlanta government code violations and how to assist city departments in effectively combating blight.

In addition, Councilmember Boone, along with the Office of the Solicitor and the Mayor’s Office of Constituent Services, held an annual educational symposium and scrap tire drive on June 8. This symposium covered how to empower communities to recognize various code violations and how to assist the city in effectively combating blight. The annual event was held at C.T. Martin Recreation Center, and it was reported that over 500 scrap tires were collected at the event. Such events help strengthen trust and clarity among community members, something that Councilmember Boone cherishes and strives to maintain.

Councilmember Andrea Boone getting it done!

Councilmembers Andrea Boone and Andre Dickens Host Back to School Bash With Free Backpacks and School Supplies, Special Guest, Congressman John Lewis

with school supplies were distributed to students. Humana helped families stock their pantries while other sponsors and vendors promoted healthier living to the members of the community. There was also a plethora of activities to occupy residents and performances from local youth performers. Congressman John Lewis and Councilmember Michael Julian Bond were also in attendance to engage with members of the community.

Councilmember Boone understands that a child being adequately prepared for class is half the battle. The event was a chance to ensure that over 600 children could start the school year on the right foot with the necessary supplies.

Councilmembers Andrea Boone and Andre Dickens, along with Congressman John Lewis celebrate the Second Annual Back to School Bash.

Councilmember Boone teamed up with fellow Councilmember Andre Dickens and the City of Atlanta Office of the Solicitor for the annual Back-To-School Bash on Saturday, Aug. 10. The bash, hosted at the C.T. Martin Natatorium Center, was fun for the entire family thanks to volunteers and sponsors such as Oasis Family Life Church, RohadFox, the Atlanta Hawks, 1 Deep Productions, amongst many others. More than 1,000 book-bags filled

Criminal Record Expungement Seminar Hosted by Councilmember Andrea Boone, Fulton County Solicitor General Keith Gammage and the Georgia Justice Project “2nd Chance Project”

Councilmember Andrea Boone teamed up with Fulton County Solicitor General Keith Gammage and the Georgia Justice Project to help clear misdemeanor records of residents by hosting the MLK Jr. Holiday Legacy Expungement Bowl and second chance job fair. The event was held at the C.T. Martin Natatorium during the King holiday. “One misdemeanor can be life altering”, said Councilmember Boone. “It could mean denied applications both for college admissions and jobs. Every week I run across someone struggling to find work because of one regrettable decision. Everyone deserves a second chance.”

The event accommodated everyone from seniors to youth to help clear misdemeanors from their record and search for job opportunities. The process to expunge a record could normally take months and incur costs for filing fees but participants were able to take care of the process in a matter of hours at no cost. According to Gammage, this second chance opportunity has helped reduce recidivism providing hope and opportunities for success and the possibility of obtaining a good job. Hundreds of people, some having a blemish on their record for more than 20 years, participated in the Expungement Bowl to clean up their records for a second chance opportunity and to take advantage of gaining employment with a newly cleared record.

Councilmember Andrea Boone advises attendee on how to complete the expungement document.

Community Garden comes to District 10!

Councilmember Andrea Boone participates in Young Generation Movement Community Garden and Cleanup event.

Community Gardens are places where people come together to grow a variety of vegetables, fruit and flowers. Now there is one located in our community. Land in disrepair located near the Youth Generation Movement workplace on Lake Valley Road received a much-needed revitalization when Councilmember Andrea Boone joined youth volunteers, the Lions Club and Anthem Foundation to beautify a vacant lot. Volunteers cleaned up the street, picked up litter and debris, cleared branches and shrubs and hauled away tires. They beautifully revitalized an area previously in poor condition by planting trees, flowers and a community garden that included squash and other vegetables.

Councilmember Andrea Boone Participates in “Read Across America Day” at West Manor Elementary School

Students at Atlanta Public Schools’ West Manor Elementary on Lynhurst Drive were treated to the tale of “Green Eggs and Ham” as part of Read Across America Day, an annual program to promote literacy. Councilmember Andrea Boone joined participants in this annual reading event who chose from three Dr. Seuss book titles that included the options of “Green Eggs and Ham”, “How Do Plants Grow” and “Morris Family Adventure”. Students selected to read the classic Green Eggs and Ham, a book published in 1960 that is still favorite among young children decades later. It’s a tale about a character who is encouraged to eat green eggs and ham in a variety of locations while insisting to dislike the dish until finally giving in to try it out.

The National Education Association originally created National Read Across America Day in 1997 as an initiative to encourage reading. Each year it is recognized on or near the birthday of famed children’s author Dr. Seuss whose book titles fascinated kids. He authored more than 60 titles, some noted for their nonsense words, playful rhymes, unusual creatures and vivid illustrations.

Councilmember Andrea Boone Partners with SEC and All State for SEC Good Works Day

Special Guest SEC Anchor and Heisman Trophy Winner Tim Tebow

Councilmember Andrea Boone joined by DJ Shockley, Aaron Murray, Matt Stinchcomb and Tim Tebow.

Councilmember Andrea Boone kicked off SEC Good Works Day with the Allstate AFCA Good Works Team and the City of Atlanta Parks and Recreation Department. Some SEC football legends including Tim Tebow joined volunteers from Allstate to help refurbish a football field at the C.T. Martin Natatorium and Recreation Center leading up to a big matchup between two top ranked teams playing in the SEC Championship game. The former players and volunteers worked to clear brush, debris and discard items from the football field. Participants also cleaned up litter, mulched trees, built new benches and picnic tables. When all the work was completed former players hosted a special football clinic for youth. The group performed volunteer tasks in conjunction with Pride Park, a local nonprofit that works to improve parks in the city.

Now a broadcast football analyst, Tebow played college football for the University of Florida winning the Heisman Trophy in 2007 and appearing on BCS National Championship-winning teams during the 2006 and 2008 seasons. He also played for the Denver Broncos and the New York Jets before leaving the league. “These athletes have a platform. Their out here working and helping. It’s cool. The young kids who come here....they’re going to see it and say oh that’s cool. I want to do that.” said Tebow. He was joined by local standout Matt Stinchcomb who played college football for the University of Georgia earning All-American honors and spending time in the NFL. Fellow Bulldog standout and former Atlanta Falcons quarterback D.J. Shockley also chipped in to help out.
